

Gym Membership Management Database System

The project will involve the development of a database system for the management of a gym, where information will be stored about the gym members, trainers, memberships, and training sessions. SQL will be used for the management of the database, and Java will be used to connect the program to the database through JDBC. This will help in the efficient management of information in the gym.